BROTHERHOOD TO BE TAUGHT BY DAY

The Brotherhood class of the First Methodist Sunday school decided upon a forward movement and rally plan Sunday in connection with the campaign now being conducted in that church. Heretofore the class has met with the general Sunday school and gathered for its study of the theme when the other classes dispersed for that purpose. It was decided yesterday that hereafter the class would meet in the auditorium of the church at 9:45 a. m. and handle such business as might come before it in the prosecu tion of its work at that time.

Dr. Day, who always attends the opening session of the Sunday school, will come to the brotherhood class at 10 o'clock and take charge of the lesson. In this way it is expected to interest all men not attending other Sunday schools or connected with other churches and all First Methodist men not connected with other classes in the nished far in the lead.

There was no record broken, but experience in leading bunches of men attendance and membership at once.

"I believe in men's classes," said Dr. Day to a Courier representative, "and FORMED BY FANS I think that the men's organization in our Sunday schools should be so developed that they would be as outstanding in church matters as Commercial clubs and Retail Merchants' We believe in the patrol system for associations are in civic affairs.
